Improper use cause fires, deaths

Heater warning issued by fire chief after accidents

The fire which destroyed an Okeechobee Center home Sunday night had two things in common with a teenage mother and her two children in a tragic multiple smothering last Tuesday morning.

Both were caused by bottled gas and both could have been prevented.

Acting Belle Glade Fire Chief Bobby Carter said a check of the records indicate the fire department has answered 78 calls over the past ten years, most of them fires, which have resulted in ten injuries, five deaths and $88,900 in property damage.

Carter said 31 of those calls were for fires involving kerosene stoves, 19 involved kerosene heaters, 19 were for LP gas heaters and appliances and nine were for fires involving electric heaters.

"They're all safe," Carter said, "as long as they're used properly." He went on to say the heating devices should also be inspected and adjusted by competent people.

"There's a way to adjust most open flame heaters," he said, "which decreases the amount of carbon dioxide given off."

Carter said the two latest incidents, the fire which destroyed the home of Jerry Burris Sunday night and the deaths of Geneva Lyle and her two sons, could have been avoided by proper storage of bottled gas.

In both cases, bottled gas was actually being kept in the homes. Carter said gas bottles should be stored outside the homes with the copper lines tied off to the structure.

In the earlier case, Carter said the three deaths were caused when the room temperature soared so high the oxygen was consumed, causing Mrs. Lyles and her sons to smother to death.

In the second incident, no one was home but had Burris been there, Carter said, he would have seen the fire start when the room temperature rose so high and the gas inside the bottle expanded so much the bottle's safety valve began venting gas.

"That will cause a fire as large as a filing cabinet," Carter said, "and it's almost impossible to put it out until the bottle is empty." He said the bottle in Burris' home was empty when the firefighters finally extinguished the blaze Sunday.

A similar incident occurred Dec. 9, 1973 when the home of Clara Stinson on West Canal Street filled with gas. When Mrs. Stinson lit a candle and entered the room where the gas leak was located, there was an explosion which blew out one wall of the home.

Mrs. Stinson died two weeks later in the hospital.

Carter theorized one of the problems in South Florida is that there are so few really cold days in a given year, a large number of people who live here don't know the basic safety rules about heaters.

He said any heater burning gas or kerosene should be vented to release the carbon dioxide given off when the fuel is burned. The law requires venting in any commercial building and he said that if the owner of the apartment where the Lyles lived had furnished the heater, he would have been required by law to vent it.

"But in this case," Carter said, "the tenant supplied the heater and there wasn't any law requiring the venting."

Besides the venting, Carter said any heater burning gas or kerosene should be inspected and adjusted at least once a year by a reputable dealer to make sure it is safe to operate.

"And don't forget, electric heaters either," Carter said. "If a heater blows a fuse and the resident replaces the fuse with a larger one, it could mean he'll have a fire the next time instead of a blown fuse."

Donations being taken after fire guts home

Donations for used furniture and clothing are being sought for a local family who lost their home in a Sunday night blaze in Okeechobee Center according to Center Director Harvey Poole Sr.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Burris and their 14-year old son was burned to the ground while the entire family was away. Poole said Mrs. Burris and her son were visiting out of town relatives at the time of the fire and have some clothing but the father of the family retained only the clothing on his back at the time of the blaze.

The fire began in a manner eerily similar to the incident last week when a teenage mother and her two sons suffocated in a gas-filled apartment on Southwest Avenue E.

Acting Belle Glade Fire Chief Bobby Carter said Burris' home, like the apartment of Willie James Lyles, had been the storage place for a 20-pound gas bottle, although Burris' bottle hadn't been connected.

Like the Lyles', the temperature in Burris' home had raised to the extent the bottle's safety valve blew and began venting gas. The difference was a spark in Burris' home which detonated the gas in an inferno the firefighters couldn't bring under control until the gas has been exhausted.

Poole said donations for the Burris family may be made to Leon Campbell, assistant director of the center.

Two residents of the Rutledge Hotel 116 S. Main St. were beaten and cut on the face and neck in their hotel rooms during an attempted robbery at 3:45 PM Sunday.

Earl Snyder, 54, and Kyle Cole, 49, told patrolman A. L. Thompson they were asleep in Room no. 3 at the motel when they were awakened by would-be robbers. When the intruders realized the victims had no money, one took a knife belonging to Snyder and slashed their faces.

Members of the Belle Glade Fire Department Rescue Squad were called to administer first aid to the victims before they were taken to Glades General Hospital.

Much of the preparation has involved new developments in services being offered by Peoples Federal, especially in special savings and retirement plans now available.

The official opening takes place Monday at the new office in Glades Plaza.

Peoples Federal will be giving cash donations totaling $1000 to local non-profit clubs and organizations opening day.

People's Federal due to open soon

Three Glades area residents have ended a three month order of commuting daily to Lake Worth, but they said it was worth it.

Doris Priest, Angela Muller and Jean Stevens have been getting ready for Monday's Jan. 5 opening of Peoples Federal Savings and Loan Association in Glades Plaza.

The commuting is just beginning for Peoples Branch Coordinator, Robert A. (Skip) Humphrey, who will be on hand daily to work with the three women.

Mrs. Priest is the mother of two children and has been a resident of Belle Glade for 21 years. Both Mrs. Muller and Mrs. Stevens are long time residents of the Glades area. Mrs. Muller has one child while Mrs. Stevens is the mother of two.

Christmas loot

Sollie Wayne Corbin, Jr., age 24-1/2, goes on the warpath with his Christmas rifle. The hat and boots belong to the Belle Glade Fire Department where Sollie's father, Wayne Corbin, Sr. of 300 N.W. Ave. F, is a volunteer Emergency Medical Technician (EMT).

'75 is year of fast shuffle

If Belle Glade and South Bay had ever developed a penchant for naming years after the years' major events, 1975 might be named the Year of the Flying Dirt, or possibly The Year of the Fast Shuffle.

Public employees and officials were shuffled like a new deck of cards in the two Western Palm Beach County cities and Belle Glade was flooded with politicians to cover the groundbreaking of the SR80 four-laning project. It was also a year which brought a surfeit of public hearings on the leasing of state lands by agricultural interests, and the people opposing those swaps, as well as city officials in the Glades' trying to solve garbage disposal problems.

The year got off to a start in South Bay (actually, it was carryover business from December, 1974) with the hiring of Lomax Harrelle as the city's Public Works Director but Harrelle's tenure was short as the commission turned around two weeks later and decided not to hire him.

Waldo Carmichael started off the year's action on agricultural land swaps with the state when he swapped several acres of land in the Rutenberger tract for a plot of land between Belle Glade and Loxahatchee off SR80.

In another area, three Glades Central High School football players were charged with contributing to the "riot" following the football playoff game the previous December against Chaminade High.

E. W. "Bud" Weaver was named the Palm Beach County Commission Chairman and Tom Norton Cadillac equipment was auctioned off as the Visiting Nurses Association moved into the Glades to offer service in western Palm Beach County.

State Representative Tom Lewis made the news in January when he got hopping mad over the announcement SR80 wouldn't be funded because federal highway funding wouldn't be available. He called a meeting in Washington D. C. with Florida Congressmen to try to shake some money loose from the federal government.

Meanwhile, back in the Rutenberger tract, A. Duda and Sons swapped off the largest bundle of privately owned land to the state, sealing the area against farmers.

On the business scene, Glades Mercantile held a grand opening for its Belle Glade store while at Glades Central, Al Werneke resigned his head football coaching position.

Pennies were scarce for local merchants as February rolled on the scene but South Bay decided to spend dollars instead of cents as the commission hired John Flynn as the new city manager and promoted Willie "Whisper" to the position of police chief.

B. D. Cole opened their new office building on the corner of Southeast Avenue E and Main Street, Teamsters struck Florida Sugar in a move that was destined to fizzle as the trucks rolled out the Florida Sugar plant on SR80 without a slowdown.

Lewis made his trip to Washington and State Road 80 was funded, although that came about as a President Ford move which was probably coincidental.

In March, the City of Belle Glade was advised by city planners to restructure the city's management structure to make things easier to handle for City Manager William Mallory, who was promptly asked to resign by the city commission.

W. W. Mikell was named president of the Bank of Belle Glade, March of Dimes walkers turned in more than $10,000 at the collection party after the Walkathon and the Belle Glade Woman's Club proposed the community build a statue commemorating the victims of the 1928 hurricane as part of the city's celebration of the Bicentennial.

International news touched Belle Glade directly when the members of the local Arab community closed their stores to mourn the death of Saudi Arabian King Faisal Bin Abdul Aziz.

Local Farm Bureau women showed they cared in April when they began raising money for a dialysis machine as a cruel April Fool joke was played on Glades General Hospital when its malpractice insurance was stripped away.

Mental health in the Glades received a boost however, when the first Arts and Crafts Festival at Glades Plaza proved to be a success.

Women were in the news again as Belle Glade women combined forces to help stop the Equal Right Amendment.

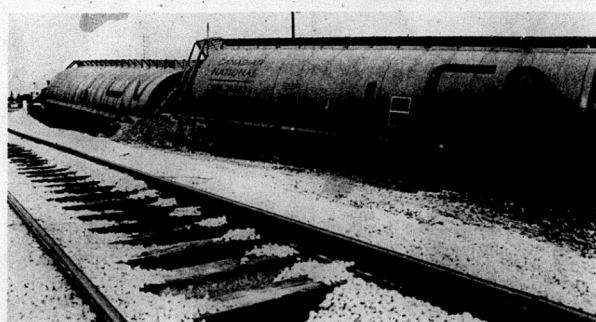

Belle Glade Commissioners moved to hire the city's first Public Works Director when they contacted Russell W. Roth. Roth first agreed to accept the position but later changed his mind.

Three men in the area were appreciated as Willie McDonald was named head football coach to replace Al Werneke, John Causey Day

The wheels won't roll

While traffic was moving freely hours after a Florida East Coast train was derailed at the SR715 crossing last week, these two cars were still off the track this week as a reminder of the energy required to brake a train and a lesson to anyone interested that steel wheels won't roll on muck.

was held at the City Marina and Lawrence Will Day was declared by the Peace River Valley Historical Association.

Bad news came with the death of Richard Poston and George Wedgworth's announcement Wedgworth Produce would stop celery production. More bad news was averted when several agencies combined to find housing for a family which could have held up construction of SR80.

Question of the Week

What was your New Year's resolution?

Bobby Barker
Belle Glade Police Department
Interim Chief, B. G. F. D.
I'm not going to make any resolutions this year. Ask Jerry.

George Knoblock
Belle Glade City Manager
I'm going on a diet. I only have a 32 inch waist, but when I can't fit into size 32 pants, I'm in trouble. I had to choose between a new wardrobe and a diet.

Doug Murray
Belle Glade Police Department
Identification Officer
I am going to work harder than before and accomplish things I have put off so I can provide better for my new family. I also want to be kinder and more thoughtful to those who need my help.

Jerry Smith
B. G. Fire Dept.
I'm not going to light any more bon fires at the Glades Day School Homecoming celebration.

The first of what was destined to be several hearings on a proposed lease of part of the Holy Land by U. S. Sugar Corp. packed the Belle Glade Civic Center in a continuation of the agricultural land lease controversy.

City Clerk Vera Jones retired after 25 years of service to the city and James Maynor resigned his position as West Area Superintendent of Education after several years in the Glades. In other news connected with education, Glades Central was fined $50 and put on probation for the first five football games of 1975.

The Belle Glade City Commission finally found a public works director in the person of Clifford Burgess and Commissioner Tom Altman blasted South Bay City Manager John Flynn for a series of comments Flynn had made to public officials concerning Belle Glade.

Everglades Federal Savings and Loan Association moved into its new quarters in July as Charles Trammel was named to replace Richard Poston.

Education was in the news again when Dr. Joseph Carroll announced the approval of the state cabinet to go ahead with plans for a Glades vocational technical center and Palm Beach Junior College trustees approved a master plan for the Glades campus.

In South Bay, City Manager John Flynn's position was growing precarious as a city resident asked for his resignation one week and on the following week, Flynn took on Mayor Vernita Cox and City Attorney Allan Everard in arguments.

The hearings on the proposed leasing of the Holy Land continued in West Palm Beach but on a more formal basis but shortly the first two days of the hearings, U. S. Sugar withdrew the swap offer and offered instead to make an outright purchase.

Back in South Bay, the commission fired John Flynn for insubordination. The Holy Land hearings were completed in August and the hearing examiner later recommended to the state cabinet the proposal should be accepted.

On a different front, a proposal was made to allow commercial seine netting of fish in Lake Okeechobee.

And ground was broken on Aug. 22 on the four-laning project of State Road 80, marking the beginning of the end of the end of the beginning.

September opened with the Belle Glade City Commission deciding to hire a new city manager to replace William Mallory but he, like the erstwhile public works director before him changed his mind.

September also saw the death of Glades Central High School Principal Charles McCurdy. McCurdy had won the position in a suit filed against the Palm Beach County School Board and held his job for one year before his death.

City Commissions were reshuffled as Jay

Smith and Billy Wells defeated incumbent South Bay Commissioners Woody O'Neal and Neal Mayo while William Grear and Aubrey Farmer were joined in the victor's circle in Belle Glade by Kenneth Harris. Grear went on in October to become the city's first black mayor.

Belle Gladians went to the most telephone service available in the world in September when Southern Bell added new equipment.

The bureaucratic shuffle continued when George Knoblock was hired to replace William Mallory as Belle Glade City Manager.

In an unprecedented action, the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce named a woman, Ruth Wedgworth, as Man of the Year and a Pahokee resident Rupert Mock, was named Agribusinessman of the Year.

Belle Glade was also officially named a Bicenennial Community in October even as the city joined South Bay and Pahokee in an effort to find an answer to garbage collection problems in the Glades.

The expanded Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida sugar mill ($25 million worth) put a new tandem on the lone as the mill was fired up to begin grinding the 1975-76 crop of cane.

And the bureaucratic fast shuffle went on as Lomax Harrelle was named South Bay Public Works Director even as Belle Glade Public Works Director Cliff Burgess resigned his position, charging city commission interference as the cause.

Q. Why can't FPL absorb the fuel adjustment costs?

A. The price of fuel oil has skyrocketed to a point where it now costs FPL three times what it did in 1972. The average cost per day has risen from $334,000 to over $1,000,000. The cost of fuel now comprises 59% of our total operating costs.

To give you a clearer idea of what these figures mean, the price we paid for fuel oil last year was 3 1/2 times greater than our payroll expense and more than three times our total net income for the same year. That's why there's the fuel adjustment charge on your electric bill. However, we don't keep one cent of that money, it all goes to help pay the fuel bill. We don't like paying that much money for fuel any more than you do.

We're doing all we can to keep the cost of your electric bill down. That's one reason we're building more nuclear power plants. Nuclear fuel is the least expensive source of energy available to us today.

Letting you know is a part of our responsibility.

CRACKER CRUMBS

BY DEAN JONES

Wonder why it is, when you take off for a few days with the idea of getting some rest, you have to come back to home and work to recuperate?

Like a lot of other people, I headed home for Christmas (well, actually it was to my parents' home. Belle Glade is home now) and figured, "Hoo, boy, four days off. The kid's going to rest up for the New Year. Really take it easy with the time off I've had this year except for that stay in the hospital."

Fat chance!
I've got back to where you were raised and really get any rest and look up all your old friends at the same time? I never did. Matter of fact, I don't know anyone who ever did.

Come to think of it, I never was able to go home and do either one right. Always too many people to look up and too little time to do it in. You keep hopping around and still don't see more than a few before heading back home.

One thing I found out though; the CB radio really do come in handy.

Decided to take the scenic route back to the BG town instead of the interstate and turnpike and wouldn't you know that hunk of Detroit iron would give up the ghost out in the middle of nowhere. Well, it may not have been the exact middle but it couldn't have been far from it. You could see it.

Now, anybody who knows the Crumb knows he ain't exactly the world's greatest mechanic. I don't even carry tools because I wouldn't know what to do with 'em if I had 'em. So after trying a few times to start up an engine with about as much life as a doornail, I gave up that strategy and hollered for help on the two-way.

Musta been a living right because a couple of CeeBeers from Orlando named Middleman and the Orlando Yankee weren't too far behind and they were a sight for sore eyes when they pulled up to a stop on that stretch of 41.

Turned out they not only had tools, they even knew what to do with 'em.

The problem, though, was one I never saw and I've only run across one person since then who said he ever has seen it. The moving arm (that's the only way I know how to describe it) of the points had broken clean in two.

Now, I've seen points that were burned completely up but to see the foot things actually break, that's something else again.

Like I said, I must live right because it turned out that what I thought was the middle of nowhere wasn't really. The teeming metropolis of Holopaw was right around a bend in the highway and when Orlando Yankee made the trip, he found a service station that carried the complete tuneup kit it took to get the Crumb back on the road and headed for home.

And because these guys knew what they were doing, what might have meant a $50 towing bill alone was reduced to $5 and a half-hour delay. I made a believer out of me when it comes to CB.

So now that Christmas is over, let me be the first to wish you and yours a Happy New Year...for 1977 if not for 1978.

In case anyone's interested, I have made up a list of New Year's resolutions this year, unlike past New Year's when the only resolution I've made has been to make no resolutions.

During the coming year, the Crumb has resolved to:

Accept any and all raises in pay, bonuses, payola, graft or gifts offered by anyone whatsoever. Like one of my favorite politicians is so fond of saying, "Graft is great! And if I'm going to be needy, I may as well be greedy."

Make a real effort to live up my image as the laziest man in the Glades.

Not to make any effort at all to give up smoking, overeating, drinking, gambling, chasing wild, wild women or any other habit such as these which are obviously in the best interests of my health, wealth and welfare (even those which I can't afford to indulge both which may be fouly foisted off on me by outside agitators.)

To studiously avoid work or such assignments as the special correspondent for the Herald to Angola or any other pursuit which may lead to a deprivation of character.

To continue the policy of trying to get the boss to hire the morally handicapped, especially morally handicapped women. That's been long-standing policy anyway since we feel it's our duty as the local representative of the Press (notice the capital letters) to help the underprivileged. Just remember that to be deprived ain't so bad but to be deprived and deprived is terrible.

Happy New Year.

Comment

Right address please

Although no one is to blame for mix-ups in addresses of persons requesting ambulance service, the problem can be alleviated by cooperation of all parties.

The Civil Defense Dispatching Center in West Palm Beach needs to make sure their dispatchers are trained to get the full address for Glades calls. The dispatchers must understand the need to know the area designation - SW, SE, NW or NE - as well as the street number. They must also realize that several Glades cities have the same street addresses and make sure they have the correct city as well.

Residents must do their part by making sure they give their proper address. A person who makes an emergency call is naturally worried and excited, but he should realize help will come sooner if the ambulance driver knows where to go.

Belle Glade citizens may consider calling the Terry Moss Ambulance Service (the only one covering Belle Glade South Bay) directly or a local law enforcement agency.

Most important, no false alarms! They only hamper the ambulance in a real emergency because ambulance operators are forced to double check on all emergencies to assure they aren't hoaxes.

The Civil Defense dispatch program is part of a county-wide system which cannot be changed until the 911 program is in operation. Although the present system is not perfect, it can be made to work.

We encourage county and municipal officials responsible for the 911 emergency program to move rapidly to implement the new system. The present plan calls for a separate Glades dispatch center for all emergency calls. A local resident will be able to dial 911 for an ambulance fire fighters or police.

As Belle Glade rescue unit member Jesse Womack pointed out, "A time delay of a few seconds can mean the difference between life and death." The 911 program could make that difference but only if the would-be rescuers know where to go.

ViewPoint:

by John D. Kotler

Everything you wanted to know about New Years resolutions but were too smart to ask.....

I'm sure you're expecting an article about New Years this week. It would be the most logical topic, right. But would I take such a ready made subject, one that is so naturally correct for this time of year. You bet I would.

The subject this week is New Years resolutions, those pledges we're supposed to make but not expected to keep during the coming year. I've been doing a lot of thinking about New Years resolutions during the last few days, and I've come up with some guidelines for resolution makers.

Rule no. 1 is to keep it simple. The number of resolutions should be in between the 3-5 range. Nobody can follow through on a roster of resolutions that looks like the Florida state criminal code. After all there are only ten commandments.

The second rule is to divide your resolutions into short term and long term goals. For instance you might resolve not to blow your entire paycheck before Wednesday for a short term goal. The long term goal might be to accumulate some savings during the New Year.

The third rule is to strike a reasonable balance between the possible and the probable. This means if you love barbecue, hush puppies and beef; don't try to switch to cottage cheese and dried out hamburger. You just have to limit your consumption of the former to a reasonable number of meals to avoid heart attacks and beer belly.

At this point you're probably thinking the same things I was. But before you stop reading for fear of contracting a terminal case of self-discipline, listen to rule no. 4. This rule allows you to make one extra resolution which you have no intention of keeping. Pick out one of your vices which doesn't cause you to lose your job, your wife (husband) or your liberty. Chose one which you know, from long experience, can't be changed. Then you can spend the entire year indulging in your broken resolution with the knowledge that you have abided by the others.

I have a feeling the reason so many resolutions go by the board each year they are impossible to achieve or ones which people really don't want to go keep. I won't do you much good to resolve to win the Masters unless your name is Johnny Miller, Jack Nicklaus or Lee Trevino. You might be able to shave your score down by three or four points though.

The second type of resolution is even more futile. If you don't want to be president of the 2nd National Bank of Guam, don't try. If your not the rugged type, there's no use kidding yourself about going to Colorado to live off the land. Of course you might want to read up a little on banking so you'll know where to put your savings or how to get a livable loan on that new house or '78 Mustang. You might also take a weekend vacation in the woods.

By now it should be obvious I'm no expert at New Years Resolutions. But I've decided it's better to set goals and fall a little short than not to set them and sit on my tail.

I will make one New Years resolution right now. I promise not to write another article about New Years resolutions, until next year. Then we can compare notes.

Have a happy New Year!

May all your news be good news for the New Year

THE CONSTITUTION

In anticipation of statehood, Florida's Constitution was adopted by a convention January 11, 1839, after weeks of controversy. With 56 present, only one refused to agree. It became effective in 1845 when Florida was accepted as a State. In the following years there were several Constitutional conventions motivated directly or indirectly by the Civil War. The 1885 Constitution, although frequently amended, was put to rest for 83 years. A major revision finally was necessary because of conflicting and obsolete sections and the present Constitution was ratified in 1968.

Social Chatter

By Maude Vereen

The members of the Christmas Savings Club observed the Christmas spirit with their annual Christmas party with each member inviting a guest.

They really outdid themselves this year. The decorations in the building at the Lake Shore Civic Center were beautiful and each table was decorated with Christmas tablecloth and the centerpieces were made by each club member.

The music for the affair was furnished by Mr. Hawatha Plair and there was plenty of food, which consisted of turkey with dressing, ham, sliced pineapple on lettuce with cherries in the center, peas halves United green and red and served on lettuce, sweet peas, rolls, cake with icing and pecans, coffee, drinks and assorted minis.

Each guest was presented a gift. Before giving out gifts, Mrs. Tucker led everyone in Christmas carols. The ladies were all dressed in long dresses.

Members of the club are Annie Blackshore, Ivy Bragg, Gladys Tucker, M. G. Poole, Hertha Evans, Etha Walker, Rosa Stevenson, Fannie Lou Corbitt, Rosa Lee Walker, Emma Sherrod, Mary Goleon.

Corine Ghent, Catherine Johnson, Corine Ready, Ida Bellet, Estella Conyer, Willie Mae Boston, Ronnie Steward, Rosa Mary Rivers, Phelt Brown, Lela M. Deaux.

The youth of Mt. Zion A. M. E. Church had for their speaker on Sunday morning Bolman Slater and he brought his message from Revelations, third chapter.

There were many returning young adults home from college and they too were in attendance at the service. Sanjena Clay, Valerie Vereen, and Almata Jackson, all college students, were back in their regular positions helping to carry out the program.

The pastor, Rev. Charles Robinson, and members invite you to attend "Watch Meeting" at the Mt. Zion A. M. E. Church where the Choir no. 1 and choir no. 2 both will render a portion of the service in song.

The Elite Community Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller. The vice president, Mrs. Eva Reese, presided in the absence of the president.

The club members made final plans for the club party on New Years night where each member will invite a guest to come. The secret sister was Mrs. Betty Morris.

Mrs. Joan Bass entered Glades General Hospital on Friday, Dec. 26. We wish her a speedy recovery.

No mother can really ask God for more than to be thankful to have health and strength and to have all of her children home together healthy and happy.

This was my prayer and thank God, he answered it by letting those who were away come home safe. We, as most families, ate too much.

The Vereen's would like to wish each of you a healthy and prosperous New Year.

Glades Day sports preview

Although the Gator football team has stowed away shoulder pads and helmets, there is more to the Glades Day athletes and fans according to Athletic Director Tom King.

Basketball holds the forefront now as the Glades Day cagers attempt to surpass last years performance which made them runner-ups in the district championship meet. Coach Dick Schmidt will direct the varsity team and Ken Lassiter will lead the junior varsity. A major high team has been added this year, coached by Manny Perez.

Another addition to Glades Day athletics is a girls softball team which will begin the season with a new softball field. Four new tennis courts are ready for boys and girls tennis too.

Baseball and golf will return for their third season.

King said he does not expect a large increase in the number of students going out for teams this year, but he said he expects enough new athletes to replace graduating seniors.

Glades Day School now has facilities or access to facilities for all major sports except swimming.

Even though his team is short on inches this year, head basketball coach Dick Schmidt expects the Golden Day cagers to be back in contention for the class 1A district Championship. With only two players on 6 feet and only two starters returning this year, Schmidt has a job on his hands. Yet the potential is there for another good year the coach said. The Gator basketball team faces a "tough" '76 game season which includes a 2A opponent, one 2A and the third place 1A team from last year.

The basketball season begins this Friday at the Glades Day gym with Junior Varsity and Varsity games against triple A Naples-Lely. The J.V. game begins at 6:30 PM and the varsity at 8 PM.

Coach Ken Lassiter will direct the junior varsity and coach Manny Perez will coach the junior high team.

The Gator team is composed of six seniors, two juniors, one freshman and one ninth grader said Schmidt. The coach said seniors Jorge Echave, guard, and Brandon Markham, forward, are the only starters to return from last year.

Other varsity players are Carlos Torres-forward, Bill Thompson - center, Alphonse Alvarez - guard, Curt Thompson - forward, Chris Humphrey - forward and Kenny Buckner - center.

Except for Torres and Humphrey, the basketball roster could have been lifted from the Glades Day football program.

Schmidt said he is not worried about the packed schedule which includes 13 games in January. He said the schedule will "keep us in practice."

Schmidt predicted a four-way run-off for the district championship between last year top contenders - Glades Day, Eggshades Christian, Moorehaven and Kings Academy.

Even a good season can't assure the Gators a top standing since the district champs are decided in a special tournament at the end of the season. All teams compete regardless of record and winner takes all.

"We've got to play good defense as well as offense if we want to have a good season. I'm hoping we'll have a 500 year," said Schmidt.

22 game schedule

Tough season for Gators

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

So I'm a little late...but I was sort of tied down last week, so to speak. Yep, in case any of you Korner readers were wondering (thanks Mom, for hanging in there-at least I got one) what happened to my column in the last edition, I was spending a Christmas vacation in the hospital. Some vacation.

A couple of my body parts got a little rusty and the doctor decided they needed a cleaning out process and lubrication. Anyway, I'm much better now, and I want to thank everyone who sent me cards and flowers and helped to make my stay a little bit better. The nurses and the staff at the hospital were great, although I wouldn't have minded if Santa Claus had stuck a switch in their stockings for poking me with all those needles.

Speaking of Santa Claus, he was very nice to me this year. I am using one of his presents right now, pecking away at this shiny new electric typewriter-it's a beauty. At least the typewriter won't have as big a problem trying to decipher this typing, like she has with script.

I also got one of those new-fangled six hockey games, something which I had been hinting at for quite some time.

Good ole Santa Claus-and I didn't even get one switch in my stocking, although I know some people who would have liked to speak me one in there-just because I have an independent mind (for some reason they call it contrariness).

Since I was supposed to be in bed resting (ahem), got a chance to watch some serious football watching, not that I liked what I saw too much. Lying there miserably with an I. V. tube stuck in my hand, I witnessed the so-called "Condorella team" Baltimore Colts put a whipping on New England to advance to the playoffs as the champions of the Eastern Division of the American Football Conference.

Quite a mouthful, isn't it? I thought, maybe, just maybe, the Patriots might have a chance and pull an upset when their kickoff return man (poor guy, I can't even remember his name) returned the kickoff officially 99 yards for a touchdown-and then New England led 14-10 at halftime. But they blew it in the second half - as they have always managed to do.

Then just as I had my mind set to go with Baltimore, they bowed to the defending World Champions, the Pittsburgh Steelers. Oh well, I didn't have that much confidence in them anyway. One bright point in this last weekend was the upset of the Minnesota Vikings by those Texas guys.

Yep, that was a picture pass when Roger Staubach just let 'er loose and Pearson hugged it all the way into the end zone, with 36 (might have been 34 or 37, who was counting?) seconds left in the game, to edge the ranking favorite Vikings out of the playoffs.

The Vikings had only 24 (I do remember that) seconds left and were backed up to their end zone, when quarterback Fran Tarkenton blew his cool about something, never did find out what, but that was overshadowed when one of the game officials got knocked on the head apparently by a bottle thrown from Minnesota fan.

Sure was sorry to have it end that way. Somebody should have gotten hold of that fellow and tarred and feathered him all the way to Dallas, where they could have served him for New Year's dinner, along with ham and black-eyed peas.

The Oakland Raider Cincinnati Bengal game was something else too. I really couldn't make up my mind which team to go with but I think I sort of leaned towards the Bengals, they've tried so hard every year.

Really though they might pull the rug out from under the Raiders too, but their balloon really deflated when they got a roughing the kicker penalty in the last seconds of the game. Needless to say, Oakland got by with a 31 to 28 victory.

Now that there are only two teams left in the American Conference, Oakland and Pittsburgh, I'm gonna go with the Raiders, although they might blow it again as they've been known to do. Sorry, Pittsburgh fans, but that team is on the bottom of my list.

So now that we have the Oakland-Pittsburgh game decided, now comes the toughest between Dallas and the Los Angeles Rams. It's a toss-up, but I'll go with the Cowboys, and if the Rams win, there's no ill feelings.

Since the football games are out of the way, you think it's a little too early to ask Santa Claus for some things for next year?

Such as:

1) A Super Bowl title for the Miami Dolphins in the 1976/77 season and a state title for both the Glades Central Raiders and Glades Day Gators.

2) A Southeastern Conference title for the University of Fla. football team.

3) A perfect season for the women's softball team Wallis Pharmacy.

4) An exhaust system for my little green Colt.

5) Money to buy an exhaust system for my little green Colt.

6) To make sure I get every issue of Sports Illustrated through the mail, thanks to my "little sister".

7) Bring me a pinball machine so that I can truly be a "Pinball Wizard".

8) A high income tax return.

9) Most of all, a 6 foot tall, handsome male being to take care of me if I'm no women's libber. Santa Claus, I like being protected.

Hope everyone has a Happy New Year, don't forget to make some New Year's resolutions so you can break them during the year and take care of yourself so that you'll be around next year.

TAX SAVINGS

SPECIAL NOTICE

FROM DAVID L. REID, PALM BEACH COUNTY PROPERTY APPRAISER
FILE NOW FOR TAX SAVING EXEMPTIONS

HOMESTEAD—SENIOR CITIZENS EXEMPTION—WIDOWS—DISABLED VETERANS NON-MILITARY DISABILITY—AGRICULTURAL—TANGIBLE PERSONAL PROPERTY

COME IN AS SOON AS POSSIBLE

MARCH 1st IS THE FINAL DAY TO FILE
$10,000 IS THE MAXIMUM AMOUNT FOR EXEMPTIONS

Florida Law states that no property shall have more than $10,000 in exemptions applied. If, for example, a property owner was eligible for Senior Citizen's Homestead ($10,000), the Widow's Exemption ($500) and a War Veteran's Disability Exemption ($500), the total allowed would be $10,000 and not $11,000.

HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION

FLORIDA LAW requires that applications be made by March 1, 1976 to be eligible for this $5,000.00 exemption. All three of these qualifications must be met.

1. You must have been a legal resident of Palm Beach County on January 1, 1976.
2. You must have owned the property on January 1, 1976.
3. You, or a person wholly supported by you, must have lived on the property as of January 1, 1976.

YOU MUST HAVE, in order to file, a Voter's Registration Card obtainable in Court House Annex, 810 Datura Street, if residency requirement is met; or a Declaration of Domicile if you have resided here for less than the required time (obtainable in Court House, Room 201 for $4.00), Florida Drivers License and Florida Vehicle Registration (if you drive and own a car).

YOU SHOULD HAVE, or you will be delayed, a Warranty Deed (Condo. and private home owners), Proprietary Lease or Certificate of Stock Ownership (Condo owners), or other proof of ownership.

NOTE: Alien residents to qualify must also have a permanent Visa Card.

$5,000 ADDITIONAL SENIOR'S HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION

This exemption applies to taxes levied by county, school and local government as well as special taxing districts. To be eligible, the applicant must qualify for Homestead Exemption, be at least sixty-five years of age as of January 1st, 1976, and have been a permanent resident of Florida for at least five consecutive years as of January 1st, 1976. To file for the first time, you should bring proof of age and of your residency (old tax bills, voters registration card or similar proof).

$500 WIDOW'S EXEMPTION

Any widow who is a permanent Florida resident may claim this exemption. If the widow remarries, she is no longer eligible and if the husband and wife were divorced before his death, the woman is not considered a widow. If filing for the first time, please present a Death Certificate or other proof of your widow status.

DISABLED VETERAN'S EXEMPTION

A disabled veteran who has 10% or more wartime disability, is entitled to an additional $500.00 beyond Homestead Exemption. A "V.A." letter must accompany application, or other acceptable record of disability.

Veterans who are totally and permanently disabled as a result of certain service connected disabilities should contact the Appraiser's Office for determination of other special benefits allowed by law.

AGRICULTURAL (Greenbelt) FILINGS

All owners or lessees of agricultural lands who desire agricultural zoning for tax purposes on their property must file an agricultural return every year with the Appraiser between January 1 and March 1.

$500 DISABILITY EXEMPTION ($5,000 for five year residents)

Every Florida resident who is blind or is totally and permanently disabled qualifies for this $500 exemption. If the applicant is a five year resident of the State, this increases to a $5,000 exemption. If filing for the first time, the applicant must qualify for Homestead Exemption and present proof of the total and permanent disability by obtaining certificates from two licensed physicians of the State who are professionally unrelated, or a certificate from the U.S. Government or the U.S. Veteran's Administration. Residency must be for 5 consecutive years as of January 1, 1976. Quadriplegics should contact the Appraiser's Office for special benefit information.

TANGIBLE PERSONAL PROPERTY

Exemption requests for Tangible Personal Property must be filed with the County Appraiser no later than March 1st. Non-Exempt Tangible Personal Property returns must be filed no later than April 1st. Failure to file a return will result in a penalty and an assessment will be made as provided by Florida law. Tangible Personal Property includes property such as business furniture and fixtures, machinery and equipment, stock of merchandise, household goods and personal effects. (Florida residents are exempt from the tax on household goods and personal effects). The deadline for charitable and qualified non-profit organizations eligible for such exemption is March 1st. All others must file by April 1st.

REMEMBER, THERE IS A MAXIMUM OF $10,000 IN EXEMPTIONS ALLOWED

Youth emphasis program is scheduled

Ministry in music, magic and ventriloquism will highlight Youth Emphasis Jan. 4-6 at the Belle Glade Alliance Church, according to Pastor Mark O'Farrell. The church is located at 425 E. Canal St. North.

Mrs. Marlin Rexford, who Rev. O'Farrell said is gifted in that spare time money may not be so great

If you are wondering how you can make extra money in your spare time, you may have been attracted to those ads in your local newspaper or in the major magazines beckoning you to "earn money at home." But be cautious: according to the U.S. Postal Service, offers to earn money at home can be one of the devices used to defraud the public.

By advertising in magazines and newspapers, companies can entice you to send them money to "register" for such kinds of work as addressing envelopes, sewing small items like baby booties or selling merchandise by phone or letter. Fraud comes when (1) the company keeps your "registration fee" but, tells you that you are not qualified for the job, or (2) gives you the work but doesn't pay you. In either case you lose either your money or your time. If you want your money back, you must go to court (in which case small claims courts are the best bet). To avoid these problems, the Postal Service suggests that you find out as much as you can about the company before you send any money.

TWO MINUTES

WITH THE BIBLE
BY CORNELIUS H. STAM, PRES.
BIBLEMAN BIBLE SOCIETY
CHICAGO, ILLINOIS 60623

THE MAKER OF ALL MADE SIN FOR US

It is thrilling to trace through the New Testament and find the word "made," to see how our Lord Jesus Christ, the great Creator of all, humbled Himself, died on Calvary's cross and arose again from the dead to save and glorify us.

St. Paul says of Christ: "All things were created by Him, and for Him" (Col. 1:16), and St. John adds by inspiration: "All things were made by Him; and without Him was not anything made that was made..." (John 1:3, 10).

How wonderful it is, then, that He, the Creator of all, came to be one with us—yes, one of us! John tells us again that the Maker of all was "made flesh" (1:14) and Paul declares that "when the fullness of the time was come, God sent forth His son, made of a woman, made under the law..." (Gal. 4:4). That He "made Himself of no reputation..." and was made in the likeness of men" (Phil. 2:6, 7). In his letter to the Hebrews he adds that Christ was "made a little lower than the angels for the suffering of death" (2:9). More than that, he declares that our Lord was "made a curse for us" (Gal. 3:13) to redeem us from the curse of the law, and that God "made Him to be sin for us..." that we might be made the righteousness of God in Him" (II Cor. 5:21).

Thus in one stroke, at Calvary, our Lord, the great Creator, bore the penalty for sin that would have sunk a world to hell, and for this "God also hath highly exalted Him" (Phil. 2:9) having "raised Him from the dead and set Him at His own right hand in the heavenly places, far above all..." (Eph. 1:20, 21). "God hath made this same Jesus... both Lord and Christ" (Acts 2:36) so that now He has been "made higher than the heavens" (Heb. 7:26).

As a result the simplest believer in this mighty Savior is "made accepted in the Beloved One" (Eph. 1:6) and is "made the righteousness of God in Him" (II Cor. 5:21), "that being justified by His grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life" (Titus 3:7).

The Secret That Was

When someone shares a secret, it's on its way to becoming no secret at all. And yet it doesn't cease to be a secret until you have shared it.

When Jesus preached in the wilderness, hundreds came miles to hear Him. They wanted to share His secret... the secret of God... the secret of Man and God.

So right there in the wilderness, it was on its way to becoming no secret at all. Except that, even today, not everyone has shared it.

Academically every intelligent person knows what Christianity is all about. But each Sunday all over this world someone is finding in church a new strength, a new purpose, a new faith. For the heart of Christ's message brings a human soul into harmony with a mighty and loving God... whose power gives our lives direction... whose concern gives our lives meaning.

The secret that was still a secret, until YOU share it too.
